Development of the projects Polish Equestrian Legends and Polish Digital Equestrian Library

Scope:

The project Polish Equestrian Legends (www.plpj.pl) and Polish Digital Equestrian Library (www.pcbj.pl) were to be developed for a period of 5 years with its all-Poland scope. However, they are sought-after so much and number of legendary people, horses and related events is so great that we decided to prolong them without any time limit. Thanks to the advanced technology and popularity of social media (facebook, tweeter and instagram), our projects have already the international range.

Our projects in social media and their Internet portals have more than 65,000 observers (including foreign observers) that follow our actions and participate in discussions by means of available high-tech translation tools.

Now, we develop the English version of the project Polish Equestrian Legends that will be started in 2021 outwardly.

Currently, there is also available an English version of the PLPJ page (www.polishequestrianlegends.com).

Target group:

All our initiatives have an educational character and are financed with donations and payments from sponsors and patrons of individual Legends. They address different receivers interested in horse breeding, riding and racing as well as all people that are passionately fond of the independent Poland history shown through horses wherewith we, as the Nation, were and are strongly connected.

Receivers' interest:

The project is sought-after very much. We can see steady increase of number of our sympathizers for the last months. Each our post has many likes, extendings and comments (we invite you to visit our social media portal: <https://www.facebook.com/PolishEquestrianLegends>).

At the request of our receivers, we have extended the scope of Legends by important places (e.g., Służewiec Racecourse, Cracow Horsemanship Club), historical events wherein a horse played the main role (e.g., the battle under Komarów, the first Nations' Cup for Poland, Nice 1925)

Result of our action

Our main purpose is recollection of interesting people, historical events, places and horses that influenced course of Poland's history. We have already published over 100 entries about famous horses, places, events and people related to equestrianism, all of which have been translated into English. The PLPJ.pl website has already been visited by over 38,000 people.

The most measurable effect is digitalization of all pre-war releases of magazines 'Jeździec i Hodowca' (Rider and Breeder) and 'Jeździec i Myśliwy' (Rider and Hunter), 'Broń i Barwa' and 'Koń Polski' (Polish Horse). We succeeded in receiving licences from many Polish authors of interesting equestrian books to use their works for our strategic purposes. Based on the licences received, we have created the first Digital Equestrian Library in Poland (www.pcbj.pl). To the present day, we have published over 500 items at this Library which has been visited by over 23,000 people.
